Opportunities Abound at Doc Ehrhart Sanctuary

The 34-acre Sanctuary offers visitors an invitation to explore the barrier island's diverse habitats through interactive exhibits at the Center, and along a 1-mile hiking trail that winds from the ocean to the Indian River Lagoon.

The Center

Visitors will discover a modern educational facility with an interactive exhibit hall, auditorium, gift shop, classroom, office, restrooms, and observation deck—all meeting accessibility standards. The Center schedules guided sea turtle walks in June and July and year-round public programs.

Volunteer Opportunities

Volunteers play a very important role in keeping the Sanctuary up and running. Join us and share in the excitement! Volunteers are needed as docents, in the gift shop, leading and assisting with education programs, turtle walk scouting, sanctuary preservation, and much more!

Education Programs

From school field trips to family activities to teacher resources, environmental education programs are a priority at the Sanctuary. Guided hikes, speakers, film series, special events and workshops—a variety of programs offer memorable opportunities for all ages.

Environmentally Endangered Lands

The Doc Ehrhart Sanctuary is home to the Management and Education Center for the Brevard County Environmentally Endangered Lands (EEL) Program's South Beaches Region. The EEL Program was established in 1990 to protect the natural habitats of Brevard County by acquiring environmentally sensitive lands for conservation, passive recreation, and environmental education. This initiative made conservation history when citizens voted to tax themselves for the acquisition and maintenance of Brevard's natural areas.

The EEL Program mission is to protect and preserve biodiversity through responsible stewardship of Brevard County's natural resources.

Conservation Lands Work to...

- Protect rare and endangered species
- Improve wildlife habitat
- Protect aquifer recharge areas
- Provide passive recreation
- Serve as living classrooms
- Improve our health and quality of life
- Benefit our local economy

From Ocean to Lagoon...

All Things Are Connected

Brevard County's barrier island is a unique place where the temperate climate of the north meets the sub-tropical climate of the south. This meeting of climates allows for a rich diversity of habitats, plants, and animals. From east to west, five habitats are found: nearshore, dune and coastal strand, maritime hammock, intertidal lagoon, and subtidal lagoon.

Sanctuary Trail

The Doc Ehrhart Sanctuary 1-mile hiking trail begins at the Center and winds through several habitat types with spectacular views of beach and lagoon. It features a small picnic pavilion and a kayak launch area. Wildlife can often be seen and heard along the trail, including ospreys, great blue herons, gopher tortoises, and great land crabs

Sea Turtles Dig the Archie Carr Refuge!

The Barrier Island Center serves as the primary visitor and education center for the Archie Carr Refuge and is dedicated to increasing public awareness of this special place.

What Is the Archie Carr Refuge?

The Archie Carr Refuge (ACR) is the first national wildlife refuge dedicated to the protection of critical sea turtle nesting habitat. The ACR encompasses a 20-mile stretch of coast from Melbourne Beach in Brevard County south to Wabasso Beach in Indian River County. Three species of sea turtles regularly nest here: loggerheads, green turtles, and leatherbacks. The ACR is the most important nesting site for loggerheads in the Western Hemisphere. More green turtles nest here than anywhere else in the continental United States.

Who Is Archie Carr?

Dr. Archie Carr, Jr., was a graduate professor of ecology and an award winning author. Dr. Carr formed the nonprofit Sea Turtle Conservancy (STC) in 1959 to study and protect sea turtles and their habitats. In appreciation of his lifelong efforts, the Archie Carr Refuge was named in his honor.

The Doc Ehrhart Sanctuary is pleased to have STC as a partner in achieving these goals.
